IMMENSE DEBTS

It seems as if every few weeks now Congress votes another war appropriation as big as an entire national debt in more normal times. And in a world of rapid changes we get used to such things so quickly that we hardly notice them any more. For the record, if for no other reason, it might be well to notice that the United States government is spending money now, mostly of course for war account, at the rate of $40,000,000,000 a year, and that total appropriations, mostly on future account, will soon push the national debt up to nearly $200,000,000,000. We used to think one-tenth of that was a lot of debt.

It may be consoling, on the principle that misery loves company, to reflect that the other major powers are getting still more deeply in debt, not absolutely but with respect to their power to pay.

The real consolation, however, for those who have enough constructive imagination to realize it, is the prospect of a new and better world when this vast war is fought out. With universal peace, such as might ensue, and with general economic co-operation and access to the world's raw materials, wealth might be produced so plentifully that even these vast debts could melt away in a generation. The earth is willing if man is.

HELPLESS CAPTIVES

The Nazis have found a way to keep up factory production in the conquered countries. After setting a quota, announcement is made that of course it will be impossible to post a Nazi overseer over each worker. If, however, in any week production falls down, seven workerst chosen at random will be shot, and so on every week until production regains the standard fixed. This works.

The lesson for the Allies is not to place too much reliance on sympathizers in the occupied countries. Even the bravest spirit will break if enough ruthlessness is applied, and the Germans have enough and to spare. Whatever is to be done for Poles and French and Norwegians, Americans would better figure on doing themselves. While any extra help will be welcome, it may be assumed that, in view of German watchfulness and relentless discipline, little will be forthcoming.

SUBMARINE TROUBLE

The sinking of a freight ship in the St. Lawrence River, by a hostile submarine, and another at the mouth of the Mississippi, brought a shock to Canada and to the United States. It is the first time such craft has penetrated any of this continent's great waterways. The foe evidently slipped westward from the Gulf of St. Lawrence, past Anticosti Island which fronts the river mouth, then into the lower reaches of the St. Lawrence. From there it is 500 miles to Quebec, with depth for ocean shipping all the way.

Quebec naturally is alarmed. There need be no fear, however, of submarines penetrating the Great Lakes or the Mississippi River. To reach the Lakes a hostile craft would have to get through the shallow and rocky stretches above

THE WILL
Leave the great tasks to the strong
Life has always countless needs,
And the while we pass along
Some must do the little deeds.
Strength's the talent of the few,
Skill's not given to every man,
But there's much for all to do
In the Lord Almighty's plan.
There are lesser tasks: To cheer
Others worried and afraid,
Or to visit some one near
Needing just a little aid.
Who would share another's woe
Needn't wait for added skill,
Or in fame or wealth to grow.
All that's wanted is the will.

Quebec and Montreal, a feat hardly imaginable. New Orleans and its approaches are safeguarded not only by fortifications but by the narrowness of the Mississippi outlets in the Gulf of Mexico.

Enemy craft might penetrate deeply into Hudson Strait and thence down into Hudson Bay, interfering somewhat with summer traffic between Port Nelson and the Atlantic. But there are no cities in that region, and it would be a long and dangerous adventure for any foreign craft. The main peril from submarines is obviously on our eastern seacoast.

NOT ENOUGH TEACHERS

It is strange how one thing in this life is linked with another! During the late depression, young women flocked to the teaching profession. It offered security. Marriages among teachers were comparatively few. Other jobs had little attraction—when there were other jobs. Sometimes there were none.

Now the tide has turned. Other jobs, paying far more and in some ways offering more interest, are attracting women. Marriages are frequent. In war marriages the young teachers usually plan to stay on their jobs, if allowed to do so, until Johnny comes marching home. But many marriages were previously deferred because the young business or professional men were not making enough to marry on. These young men are now doing well, and out go the teachers into long-awaited homes.

This is all very well for the young women. Those attracted by easy money elsewhere do not belong in the teaching profession. Those now establishing homes of their own are giving equally worthy service. But what about the schools? A conference this month of the American Council on Education was warned that nearly half the rural schools may have to be closed next year for lack of teachers.

What about the children? Will former teachers whose own children are now old enough to take care of themselves go back into the schools to help out for the emergency! It's becoming a serious problem.

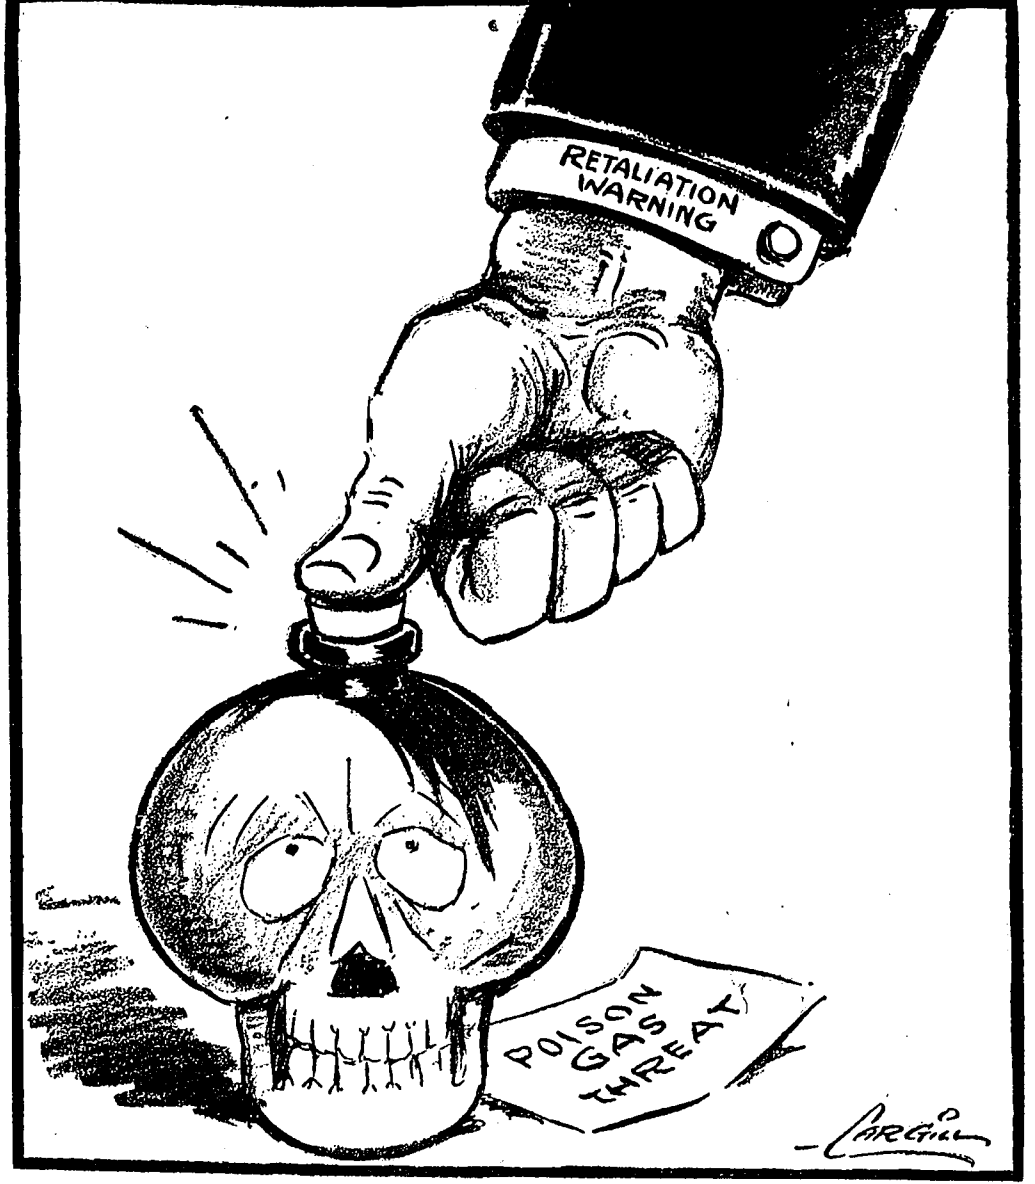

NEW BLOODSHED

Hitler, the great spiller of other men's blood, has been in his element during the past winter, killing millions of Russians and millions of his own Germans. He is handicapped now by having smaller forces left for this year's sacrifice. But he will probably go ahead with his usual zest as he gets his slaughter-machine in commission again. It looks now as if the Black Sea will soon be red. And if he breaks through to the Caspian, blood will be running like the oil wells themselves.

There is more doubt of that, however, than there was last year. The Superman has been worried lately. Inspiration seems to fail him. And when a man of that type hesitates, he is on the verge of disaster. His 1942 campaign is all the more doubtful because he has against him now three powerful and confident partners—Stalin, Churchill and Uncle Sam.

"Why should people be interested in my personal affairs?" asks Dorothy Thompson of an interviewer. Oh, just because that's the way people are, as Dorothy herself knows as well as anybody.

International Recognition For YMCA Publicity

The publicity campaign through the Corsicana Daily Sun, staged in connection with the recent YMCA membership and finance campaign, received international recognition this week when it was adjudged a model piece of newspaper publicity by officials in charge of the annual YMCA Triennial Conference being held at Cleveland, Ohio. The conference is composed of YMCA representatives of the United States, Canada and other foreign countries in a position to send delegates. A complete exhibit of newspaper stories and campaign advertisements carried in the Corsicana Daily Sun is now on display at the conference. The Triennial Conference convenes to consider a large number of YMCA activities, including prisoners of war, future Y work, and general activities connected with programs for young men and women. Pat H. Ramsey, YMCA general secretary, has submitted copies of the Daily Sun to the national YMCA department of public relations which selected them for display at the conference.

SUGAR BEET SEED SNAPPED QUICKLY BY FARMERS HERE

Several small bags of sugar beet seed sent here for distribution by the Texas Commission of Agriculture, through the post office, were snapped up immediately following an announcement in the Corsicana Daily Sun and Semi-Weekly Light earlier in the week. A. A. Allison, postmaster, announced Saturday morning. The yield and feed value of the sugar beets are being tested in Navarro and nearby counties by progressive farmers. Allison pointed out, under McDonald's direction, the crop will be extensively used to fatten hogs and cattle if the experiment proves as successful as anticipated. Allison said the following have received the sugar beet seed: R. L. Harris, L. J. Griffin, N. J. Middlebrook, J. S. Fisher, Allen Breithaupt, J. O. McSpadden, O. L. Albritton, Jack Mognarity, S. J. Burks, J. L. Jackson, Ivan Rosenberg, H. E. Redden and G. R. Benfield.

Firestone Installs Much New Equipment

M. H. Statham, manager, local Firestone Auto Supply and Service Store, corner Main and Fourth, announced the completion of installation new equipment and fixtures Friday. "The stock of merchandise at the present is the most complete in our history," Mr. Statham said. It was also pointed out by the manager a limited number of refrigerators and a good stock of radios are available to the public. RURAL FOLK URGED TO DEPOSIT SCRAP METAL ON HIGHWAY

An intensive campaign to collect scrap metal in this area, and throughout the entire state to get it to steel mills where it is urgently needed now in the manufacture of steel for the nation's war effort is being launched by the Texas Roadside Development Program, it is announced by Mrs. R. R. Range, local member of the Program, a state-wide citizens' organization. All persons living in unincorporated towns and in rural areas are urged to collect their scrap metal from their properties and deposit it on the right-of-way lines along state highways. It will be picked up by State Highway Department trucks as they return to section warehouses evenings and then will be made available to the Government for shipment to mills.

Mrs. Jud Collier of Mumford, State chairman of the Roadside Development Program, has arranged with her district and section chairmen, and co-workers in every community, to speed the collection drive. All District Engineers of the Highway Department have been instructed by State Highway Engineers D. C. Greer to have the personnel in the field throughout the state co-operate with the members of the Roadside Development Program organization in order to make the undertaking effective as quickly as possible. The scrap will be turned over to the Red Cross, the U. S. O., or the Boy Scouts in each area, which organization will make it available to the Government. Thomas L. Mullican, representative of the War Production Board in Texas, states that there is a large amount of scrap metals uncollected in this state. A number of the country's steel furnaces recently have had to close down due to the acute shortage of scrap. From 60 per cent to 90 per cent scrap is mixed with pig-iron to make steel, it is pointed out.

Donald M. Nelson, Chief of the War Production Board, declares that the winning or losing of the war may depend on our ability to collect and move the scrap metal to the mills. It is expected that the campaign in this state will result in a large collection of the urgently needed scrap, which otherwise can not be readily obtained from outlying communities, farms, ranches and other properties. "There is no doubt but that a great many tons of steel scrap can be collected in Texas in this manner," representatives of the Roadside Development Program said. "The Highway Department workers in the field will be on the lookout for the scrap metal deposited on the right-of-way lines of highways by citizens and will collect it in Highway trucks for shipment to mills from a central point in each area." The shipment of scrap to mills has been retarded in the past by high freight rates, according to Mr. Mullican of the WPB, but these have been substantially reduced and the Government is working in an effort to help get the much needed material to the

Kerens Man Stands High in Government Radio Communication

KERENS, May 23.—(Sp.)—Jimmy Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Smith, who for the past year has been connected with government radio communication work in the Wichita Falls area, has recently received promotion to district communication chief. Jimmy was one of Kerens' first amateur radio operators, having rigged up a sending and receiving station during his high school years, and while in Baylor University had charge of the college radio station.

The War Production Board points out the following scrap equivalents as essential in the manufacture of armament:
5 pounds—4 hand grenades,
420 pounds—210 rifles (.30 cal.)
850 pounds—150 light machine guns,
3 tons—8 anti-tank guns (.87 MM.),
15 tons—1 tank,
15,000 tons—1 battleship.

BIG DEMAND FOR TOMATOES FORECAST WITH ARMY BUYER

COLLEGE STATION, May 25.—(Sp.)—Civilians will have difficulty in buying processed tomatoes over the grocery counters this fall and winter, forecasts Jennie Camp, specialist in home production planning of the A. and M. College Extension Service. An abundant crop in Texas is indicated, but advance orders from Quartermaster General's department of the United States Army will absorb practically all of the 100 million cases of tomatoes processed in the nation this season.

In view of this, Miss Camp says, "every patriotic housewife, institutional manager and dietitian; every school lunch room supervisor, and restaurant and hotel dining room manager should collect and get tomatoes immediately every available glass and second-hand tin container, and see that sealing supplies for these are on hand. They should obtain the latest approved recipes, improvise water bath containers for processing tomato products, and supply themselves with some kind of efficient juicer and pure-making equipment so that as many persons as possible may have tomatoes 'some way every day,' unless citrus melons, raw cabbage or strawberries are available as substitutes."

Miss Camp suggests that farm housewives and other buyers should pool their needs under the neighborhood, community and county agricultural Victory leaders, interview local vegetable and meat vegetable distributors and contract with them to supply the high quality tomatoes they will need in addition to what their own gardens will produce.

Ripe or green tomatoes are a rich and cheap source of vitamin C which prevents bleeding gums, loose teeth, sore joints, and loss of appetite and weight. Ripe tomatoes have abundant vitamin A which guards against "dry eye" and night blindness.

STATE HOME HIGH SCHOOL GRADUATES HEAR ARMY CHAPLAIN

Baccalaureate services for the senior class of the State Home high school were held Sunday night in the main auditorium with Chaplain John D. Boren, 63rd Training Battalion, Camp Wolters, Mineral Wells, delivering the sermon, "The Sermon Which the Chaplain Made Applicable to Life." In his opening remarks the speaker referred to the terrible picture in Europe today which he said, "is brought about by the rule of the un-Godly Hitler and Mussolini."

"Everyone is a painter," the speaker declared and added, "time is the canvas upon which he paints and the life they live is the final picture."

Briefly putting the method of painting the picture the chaplain explained that the same procedure was employed in painting the picture of life. Included in the methods of painting as outlined by the speaker, were the selection of the model, the paints, and the definite objective. In applying these methods to everyday life the speaker said that the paints were the mind, the thoughts were the action and the model selected determined the kind of picture. The speaker urged the members of the class to select Jesus Christ as their model in life and told them that if they did not they might graduate from every educational institution under the sun and yet their education would be "missed."

Three Types of Life. Discussing the three types of life the chaplain said that the satisfied individual never tried to learn anything else, that he had reached his zenith, and that he never accomplished much. The dissatisfied individual, he added, is the man who finds fault with everything, he sees the wrongs but never solves the problem. The third type, he added, is the man who can for the advancement of mankind and presses steadily forward toward better life.

Dressed in caps and gowns members of the Senior class marched to the section reserved for them as the orchestra played the professional "Pomp and Circumstance."

LETTUCE CROP IS MUCH LARGER THAN THAT OF LAST YEAR

COLLEGE STATION, May 25.—(Sp.)—The current lettuce crop is estimated at 8,000,000 crates, or one and one-half million crates more than at the corresponding time in 1941, according to Hazel Phipps, specialist in food production of the Texas Extension Service. The heaviest supplies are expected to be on the consumer market through May 26.

Nutritionists think so well of leafy green vegetables, the family to which lettuce belongs, that they recommend a serving of at least one green vegetable each day. Green lettuce is a good source of caroten, which the body can change into vitamin A. Miss Phipps says. It contains also some vitamin B-1, riboflavin and vitamin C, and is a good source of iron and calcium. In general, the thinner and greener the leaf, the better source of iron and caroten lettuce is. Bleached lettuce contributes most of these same food values, but it rates considerably lower than does green lettuce as a source of the vitamins and minerals mentioned.

After lettuce is brought into the kitchen, wash and drain it, and store in a covered vegetable pan.

Miss Phipps recommends this rule to make tasty, old fashioned wilted lettuce:

Put about one quarter cup of fat or bacon fat into a heavy skillet, adding to the hot fat a small chopped onion. Cook the onion until it turns yellow, then add one-half cup vinegar. When heated, add two quarts of garden leaf lettuce or shredded head lettuce.

SCOUTS PLANNING SUMMER CAMPING PROGRAMS EARLY

As the Boy Scouts of Corsicana are completing their examinations and awaiting the close of the school year, they are eagerly counting the days until the troop goes into summer camp. The program of Camp Wisdom, the local council Scout camp, has been announced and preparations are being made by the various troops in the county to attend. Scoutmasters received complete instructions about three weeks ago and Scouts are being mailed their camp folder this week.

Camp Wisdom will be open continuously for long term camping from Sunday, June 21st, through August 18th, with 8 one-week periods. Each camp period opens on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and concludes with the noon meal the following Sunday—7 full days.

Camp Wisdom is one of the best equipped Scout camps in the southwest, located near Duncanville, and contains 337 acres of well developed land. A well-equipped swimming pool provides complete facilities for all swimming and life saving activities. The camp offers several types of Troop camping with each of the permanent sites equipped with a screened kitchen and dining hall.

Two Corsicana troops have now reserved sites and others will be reserved soon. Last year 135 local Scouts spent a week or more at Camp Wisdom. As the tire shortage cuts the family vacations this year many other Scouts are expected to come to camp.

Farmers Notice

Turkey and chicken coops are hard to get and costing more because of the shortage of nails and lumber. We will need more coops next fall on account of the new truck law which will stop many trucks from buying your turkeys on the farm. If you have turkey and chicken coops of yours, store them in a dry place or if you have coops belonging to us or A. B. Walker and Son please return them. We can repair them and store them so they will be available for you next fall. Returning coops will make money for everybody because it lowers the cost of handling poultry which makes a higher market for you.

SERVICES SUNDAY MORNING AT FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Dr. P. E. Riley, the pastor, preached at the morning hour at the First Methodist church Sunday. There was no evening service or young people's meeting, due to the services at the High school for the graduating class. The subject Sunday morning was "No Spiritual Blackout." The choir brought special music and the attendance was fine. The speaker paid a tribute to the 28 young people from the church and church school who are members of this year's high school graduating class and after paying a tribute to the American flag and the congregation standing offered a prayer in behalf of a brother of a cadet in the Corsicana Flying school who was recently killed in action and whose body was lost at sea. The cadet's home is in California and the family met in the California home Sunday for special memorial services, but the cadet here was unable to be in California.

Let your light so shine that you will glorify your Father in Heaven, was the theme of the morning hour subject. Dr. Riley stated that there is a call today for great Christian living, he stated that the same need existed today as had always existed to be good witnesses for Jesus Christ.

There was 300 present at Sunday school; 28 men heard Guy M. Gibson teach the Brotherhood bible class; Martha Ann Waddell gave the devotional in the young peoples department; A farewell to Seniors was the subject in the High school department; the young woman's bible class gave the program in the young adult department.

BACCALAUREATE

Socratic dialogue, emphasizing his points through pertinent questions. "What Do You Want?"

As possible answers to the question "What Do You Want?" the minister listed wealth, health, popularity, fame, success, and happiness. He then pointedly asked what they would be willing to pay for the things they desired in life. Declaring that no one would know the full cost until the end, he urged his listeners to be ready to make any sacrifice in the effort.

Continuing, the Presbyterian Minister called upon the students to consider the purpose for which they sought to acquire these things. Referring to this era as one of speed and power, he protested that up to this point great sources of power have been harnessed and wasted in the avid quest for more power and wealth.

"Something is wrong with our conception of life," he continued. "Unless we use these things for unselfish ends, they will destroy mankind," he declared.

Concluding, Rev. Mr. MacInnes cautioned the graduates to use their talents and possessions to the glorification of God rather than selfish gain. The latter will be swept away without trace while the former will remain forever, he said.

The services were concluded with the singing of the hymn, "Now the Day is Over." Dr. Miller pronounced the benediction.
